

On Friday 28th April, Dawn and Bob from the Hearing Dogs charity came to visit us with their hearing dog Digby. Dawn became deaf later in life. Digby helps her in many ways. He alerts her to sounds around the home, such as timers, the door bell and alarm clocks. He pats her on the leg and then takes her to what is making a noise (except if it is the smoke alarm, then then get to safety).

Dawn carries an identification book to prove that Digby is a hearing dog. This means he is allowed to go anywhere with her, even the doctors!

At the end of the visit, we got to give Digby some fuss. We went one at a time so that he didn't get overwhelmed.

He was very friendly and if you said "Thank you" he gave you his paw!
